

Government Officials Ignore Warnings

Winter Arrives In Newtown

"Christmas Cancelled"

NAMDNAS EHT

THE SANDMAN

They never thought it would happen in their neighborhood because they stack the odds of it happening in their neighborhood through certain social tactics that give them an advantage over the community at large, as they live off of the African American and Latino communities. They, the Caucasian slave and public policy insurance holders of Hartford and Fairfield lived what they considered a “civil” lifestyle during slavery.

The modern slavery system was instituted in the state of Connecticut in 1990 by Gov. Wiecker who shifted from the conservative republicans to the independent, garnering the democratic voters as we see through the Rowland administration and the negotiations between the union and the state against the African community around the same time as they built the Garner institution in Newtown to supplementing the economy of that community with the “criminal justice” system and three strikes along with the unbalance created in the violations of Connecticut general statutes. This deprived the “lesser” counties and favored the elites of Fairfield by stabilizing the economic base of its predominately Caucasian households over ninety five percent. The Wiecker and Rowland administration transferred the wealth from the African community and into the Fairfield community through institutionalized racism, no different than the slavery imposed in this country at its inception. The prison industry created jobs for Newtown, by shipping a lot of inner city detainees to jail cells in the suburbs, which intern help to maintain a economic standard for that community by way of the prison industry which in turn helps with the housing market and property values of those living in that district or county.

We can also see this through both the Insurance Solvency Policies crafted by the legislature and the attempt at the redistricting of Bridgeport out of Fairfield county. It is the heart or evil therewith which is reflected in the most recent events. Not for the individual citizen, but because of the decisions the politicians are making on behalf of the people that elect them into office. The karma “so to speak” is what is truly transpiring now. We are, as humans, a smaller part of a far greater whole that we have yet to understand. These outbursts of weapons used on ordinary people doing ordinary things is a symptom of a larger societal problem.

This unfunding of pensions for black injured state workers or artificially reducing benefits to bolster the economy of the white middle and upper class has been present in the American society since inception.

As we further research the issue, those responsible for this policy of institutionalized racism is from Fairfield county. Only now, in their selfish bid to become the nations most wealthy or prestigious area of the nation to live in, it can also boast the county where one of the worst mass murders occurred. What they may not understand that what occurred is a reflection of the havoc that they reeked on others, such as myself. Their policy from Fairfield and the valley area destroyed my family and caused the torching of my home.

The Sandman did not just pop up, he came through the storm, and transformed, taking into form. Connecticut only thought it avoided the storm. IT WAS TO COME THROUGH BOTH BEFORE AND THEN AFTER THE ELECTION, THE PERIOD OF TIME BETWEEN THE END OF SANDY THE STORM AND THE SANDY “hook” is 44 days. That very same 44th supported the slave policies implemented in Connecticut as he visibly supported those in Connecticut politics in seeking office. These were the very same from Wiecker=Rowland Era. It was not a matter of gay rights or women rights. The Gay white men, and the White women, both Catholic and Jew agreed during the Weicker=Rowland era to deprive Black and Latino state workers of the equal protection of the laws through an agreement called SEBAC IV and V, which had nothing to do with equality and the stability of the state as a whole. It was a set of policies that assured the economic viability of a selected Fairfield class of people over that of the community as a whole. They were selfish in their intent for the general population of the state. In this the Corrupt Union officials originating from the very same part of the state as the Wiecker/Rowland Administrators, and they with the knowledge of the Attorney General, Comptroller, Chairman Workers Comp, Governor, Lt. Governor, Legislature and Judicial Branches to implement this fraudulent policy against black people. They decided rather than treat and correct the criminal problem, they decided to industrialize the situation in to a business to create jobs for their “chosen” white people, while using the black people to be incarcerated and treated unfairly by the system. By doing this, they give the white people as in slavery of 1777 the same type of advantage in the 1990s and 2000s. What’s more, not one of these people have mentioned these destructions they caused. Evil was visited upon the Black community for centuries. This appearance by the sandman is only a balancing $\{U>2|c|\leq U\}$ from the larger community we are a part of that those in power have chosen to ignore.

Since they have a reprobated mind, they will not heed the law. The white community in Connecticut has agreed amongst themselves, Fairfield, to undercut the laws and statutes which were formed for the entire citizenry of the state and apply them adversely to the minority population while maintaining an entirely separate set of rules for their own governance. Therefore the laws and statutes are actual meant to bind and hold and keep the African descendants or what they consider the “underclass” of society at a continued disadvantage.

All in All, let the people know that in their scheming and corruption, they will not avoid the balance On Earth, as it Is in Heaven $\{U>2|c|\leq U\}$. As it relates to the storm of October and the shooting in December, it Is consistent with the equation. The former is of the first third, the later of the second, which balances the third. For those interested in justice reside as your Will allows in the first as opposed to the second, for all are apart of the third.

This was the error in Newtown, they chose to endeavor the second part rather than the first. Had they chosen the first, the Sandman would not have come. As I had notified the public officials, that as Ramses pharaoh had hardened his heart and brought about plagues and curses upon Egypt, so to have the governors of the state of Connecticut.

Worst though, is their hypocritical nature. This only has place in the second position of the equation. This is what is meant by “YE SHALL KNOW THEM BY THEIR DEEDS.”

The Almighty will bind their wounds and heal their lands. However, they must repent, and turn from their wicked ways. For there are more children murdered in the inner cities and no vigil is held for them. They should suffer the loss of each surrendered soul the same, no matter the faith, ethnic background nor gender.

Evil didn't visit Newtown, no more than a lightning strike visit's the ground. It was conjured there in Fairfield a short time before 1990. The gubernatorial elections was the means to implement these inherently racist policies under the guise of economic feasibility which in turn did not obey the "will" of the people as imposed on government officials through the laws and statutes. This disobedience to the laws and the attempt to unevenly balance society occurred collectively throughout the nation, with Connecticut beating the drums as the platform.

If the people won't learn from this, they will never. You would think that the people in the media ignoring this for so many years would finally report the true happenings, and stop supporting the agenda such as the one implemented in Connecticut. Not to mention they have their own late night host to help get them through it. The only thing is, it is not funny.

This occurrence can be traced to the Newtown prison and to the unions through the following article. The tradition sets the stage, as the public officials celebrate "LABOR". These policies of institutionalized racism, which undermines and holds hostage the will of the people as they suppress the laws established to protect the interest of the entire community and not segments or special interests within sub communities, the state will continue to suffer.

NEWTOWN -- U.S. Sen. Richard Blumenthal, D-Conn., first showed up for Newtown's Lab or Day parade in 1988, when he was a state senator.

"I have not missed one since then, rain or shine," Blumenthal said Monday as he readied himself for his 24th march past hard-candy hoarding kids, Main Street lawn parties, balloon vendors and the milling, waving-to-neighbors, dog-walking hometown throng that lines the local roads for the annual parade.

"It is nearly a national institution," Blumenthal said.

"It is the greatest parade in the state," said State Senate Minority Leader John McKinney, R-Fairfield, whose district includes part of Newtown. Then, checking himself, and thinking about other voters in other towns in his district, McKinney qualified his superlative.

"Unless you're at the Memorial Day parade in Fairfield," he said.

Newtown has the biggest Labor Day parade in the state, drawing thousands of people to watch its long line of marching bands, high school trombonists, Colonial fifers and Celtic bagpipers, antique fire trucks, church groups, neighborhood groups, floats with Zumba dancers and floats with Boy Scouts on hay bales.

It is also the only Labor Day parade in the state.

Labor Day is traditionally the start of the political season -- which, seemingly, now has no beginning and no end. In a year like 2012, with people running for president, U.S. Senate and the U.S. House of Representatives -- as well as state General Assembly seats -- a corps of politicians and their T-shirted supporters filled Main Street to overflowing.

Some, like Blumenthal and Lt. Gov. Nancy Wyman, are old hands at parades.

"This my 17th Labor Day parade," Wyman said. Told that Blumenthal had her beat by seven parade appearances, Wyman laughed.

"That's because he's older than me," she said. "By a month."

The two candidates for the 5th Congressional District, Republican state Sen. Andrew Roraback, of Goshen, and Democrat Elizabeth Esty, of Cheshire, are newbies.

Esty got to town early to attend a pancake breakfast at the Newtown Congregational Church on West Street. She then walked to the politician's corral about a half-mile up Main Street.

"I got a pre-parade walk in," she said.

Roraback usually spends Labor Day at the Goshen Fair in his hometown.

"This is only thing that could have dragged me away," Roraback said. "It's a perfect day. It's the first of what I hope are many appearances here."

The two biggest contingents of supporters belonged to the two candidates for U.S. Senate -- Democrat U.S. Rep. Chris Murphy, of Cheshire, and businesswoman Linda McMahon, the Republican from Greenwich. Their color scheme ran contrary to the national political map, Murphy supporters wore red, McMahon's blue.

McMahon, who ran against Blumenthal in the U.S. Senate race in about politicking.

However, McMahon said that on Monday, Labor Day, about 160,000 people in the state are out of work.

"If I win, and I will win, I pledge to change that," she said.

Murphy also said the Labor Day parade wasn't about politics. Told of McMahon's remarks, he said that Labor Day was a celebration of the hard work of the American middle class.

"I'll stand behind my record of supporting them," he said.

For the people watching the parade, seeing the politicians in an unrehearsed setting, waving and shaking hands, was refreshing.

Gina Luquette said she was at the parade to watch her son Austin Iesu march with the Newtown High School Band. She admitted it's also good to see candidates out working the crowds at a small-town event.

"It's kind of exciting," she said.

Read the “Sandman Cometh” segment of my notes. The latest is only a manifestation of the impression given off into the spiritual from the physical. In other words, it is a reply or reflection of the damages that have and are being done covertly by the rulers within government upon the people or those the rulers of the land consider goy or animals. Within this, you will see the constant throughout government, emanating from Connecticut Is that institutionalized racism/slavery is present in modern day society. This is evident in the repeal of certain legislation and the increase in the micro management of public administrators through the increase in policies which now attempt to limit the discretion of the individual or group of individual public officials that have hijacked government in Connecticut for more than the past twenty years. However, in the most recent events will still go unnoticed for what they truly are. The president of the united states supported the public officials that diagramed this institutionalized racism, so his concern can hardly be considered genuine. The concern of the state public officials are only genuine to the extent that death and destruction outside of any man or politicians control came into the community they attempt to set apart from the community at large, as they continuously made decisions to negatively affect the African community for their own selfish benefit.

My life and the lives of my family are only a few that were needlessly and senselessly altered by the corrupt deals and agreements that were made against certain public employees. Now, those artificial reductions , fraud, conflict of interests, and misrepresentations have materialized into the light out from the darkness of which they were conjured.

My opinion would be to make the proper adjustments through the Comptrollers Office, accept the protective order/confidentiality agreement and settle the matter.
